He said the station

is now able to be heard as far as Chagrin Falls and that it has achieved a better tonal quality.
However, Ray emphatically stated,
"We are in effect, though not in actuality, the voice of University Circle. We are not here to directly serve the campus; we are here to directly express the campus
by presenting educational and cultural programs, news of the University Circle area, and entertainment programs of a type
not heard on other Cleveland stations."

He pointed out that more per-sonel would be used in news, in special events, and in writing, and he urged all those who are interested to stop by at the station.

He also discussed the recent Case federation in relation to the radio station: "Plans are underway to incorporate the use of Case people at the station."

Fallen hopes were also expressed that public affairs interviews and phone in programs concerning the University Circle controversies would soon be incorporated into WRUW's schedule.

Ray also mentioned that "there is a good possibility of having Network news in the future."

On Campus with Max Sholman

(By the author of "Rally Round the Flag, Boys!", "Dobie Gillis," etc.)

THERE ARE NO BAD TEACHERS; THERE ARE ONLY BAD STUDENTS

The academic year has only just begun and already one thing is clear: you're not ready for college.

What, then, should you do? Should you throw up your hands and quit? I say no! I say you must attack, grapple, cope! I say America did not become the world's leader in motel construction and kidney transplants by running away from a fight!

To the question then: You say you're not ready for college. You're too green, too naive. You lack maturity.

Okay, the answer is simple: get mature. How? Well sir, to achieve maturity you need two things:

- a) a probing mind;
- b) a vest.

A probing mind will be quickly yours if you'll remember that education consists not of answers but of questions. Blindly accepting information and dumbly memorizing data is high school stuff. In college you don't just accept. You dispute, you push, you pry, you challenge. If, for instance, your physics prof says, "E equals mc squared," don't just write it down. Say to the prof, "Why?"

This will show him two things:

- a) Your mind is a keen, thrusting instrument.
- b) You are in the wrong major.

Ask questions, questions, and more questions. That is the essence of maturity, the heart and liver of education. Nothing will more quickly convince the teachers that you are of college calibre. And the tougher your questions, the better. Come to class with queries that dart and flash, that make unexpected sallies into uncharted territory. Ask things which have never been asked before, like "How tall was Nietzsche?" and "Did the Minotaur have ticks? If so, were they immortal?" and "How often did Pitt the Elder shave?"

(Incidentally, you may never know the complete answer to Pitt the Elder's shaving habits, but of one thing you can be positive: no matter how often he shaved and no matter what blades he used, he never enjoyed the shaving comfort that you do. I am assuming, of course, that you use Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades, a logical assumption to make when one is addressing college men—which is to say men of perspicacity, discrimination, wit, taste, cognizance, and shrewdness—for Personna is a blade to please the perspicacious, delight the discriminating, win the witty, tickle the tasteful, coddle the cognizer, and shave the shrewd.

lieve that he is going beyond the needs a built-in incentive," Mrs.

 Lewis commented.

"When Negroes go to college
 they go because they really want to," she continued. "The white child more often goes to college
 because he is forced to go."

Correlating the problem of tutors to herself as a case worker, Mrs. Lewis said "We social workers are learning all over again
 how to establish an immediate rapport with the people we work with. All the degrees in the world are no help at all when we are trying to establish simple social communication. Social workers often have trouble empathizing they feel this is unprofessional."

Richard Brudzynski, vice-chairman of CTP, and Mrs. Doris Wright of the Cleveland School System gave tutoring hints at the meeting, which was held at the United Church of Christ in the Hough area.

Stokes to discuss views in speech at Strosacker

Carl B. Stokes, Democratic candidate for mayor, will speak in Strosacker auditorium at 11:15 a.m.
 today. Seth Taft, the Republican candidate, spoke last night in the same place.

A spokesman for the Case Young Democrats Club, which is sponsoring this talk along with Pi

Delta Epsilon, the WRU journalism honorary, said that workers for Stokes had originally tried to arrange a debate between the two candidates for today. Instead, Stokes will present various aspects of his platform and afterwards
 entertain questions from the audience.

Test for diabetes given on campus

A free diabetes detection test will be offered to all CWRU students and staff members on Tuesday, October 31 and Wednesday, November 1.

The test consists of two steps:

1. The person being tested drinks a measured amount of special sugars in a carbonated cola or cherry flavor solution.

2. Two hours later, a drop of blood is sampled from a finger.

It is stressed that the person taking the test is not allowed to eat or drink anything except water during the two-hour interval so that the results will be valid.

The purpose of the two-step test is to determine whether a body is utilizing sugar properly. A positive test may be indicative of diabetes, the sixth leading cause of death in the United States. Results of the test, which are sent out within two weeks, are confidential between the Diabetes Association and the person involved.

The tests will be administered at the School of Medicine, Baker and Mather Buildings on the CWRU campus. The first step of the test will be from 8:30-10 a.m. or 1-3 p.m., and the blood sample will be taken from 10:30-noon or 3-5 p.m. respectively on both dates.

The testing program, sponsored by the Diabetes Association of Greater Cleveland, is under the direction of Dr. Jack R. Leonards and Dr. Gerald T. Kent of the CWRU Medical School. The program was previously offered at both Case and Reserve in 1964.

Billy Graham Too!

Billy Graham, the 21-year-old son of Dr. Wm. W. Graham, has been wearing contact lenses since he was 13. He made his own lenses in his father's Columbus laboratory when just beginning junior high school! He is currently enrolled in graduate school at Case-Western Reserve. Inclined to be nearsighted from school work, the tiny lenses correct his vision and keep his eyes from further change; also with "a name like Billy Graham you gotta at least LOOK better." All sports are great now!

formers in the popular music field.

Yet as is often the case, their fame overshadows other achievements. For Chad they include writing, and playing an astounding number of instruments.

Jeremy, on the other hand, is an experienced actor, attended Eton for a while and was born Jeremy Clyde, grandson of the Duke of Wellington. Together they somehow manage to sing remarkably well and yet still remain fresh.

This year's special guest stars are the Happenings, a much newer group on the music scene. Possessing good voices and a pleasing choral arrangement, the Happenings broke through with "See you in September," and have not missed yet.

Dr. Burnett experiments with cellular regeneration

By LARRY LEVNER

"Nerve factor," a substance that can rejuvenate old and worn-out cells, is being experimented upon by Dr. Allison Burnett of the Case Western Reserve biology department.

According to Dr. Burnett, "There appears to be a factor in the nervous system of hydra which when liberated from the tips of the nerves controls cellular differentiation." Secreted by animals such as the hydra, this factor stimulates differentiation for regeneration and growth. As aging is a chemical process, he feels that it can be reversed. Thus far, the material has been tested on flatworms, crustaceans and rats. Observations have shown that some cells, "in reshaping have been completed

Sophomores plan to see film classic

A limited number of tickets are available for the sophomore class trip to the Friday, December 1 showing of "Gone With the Wind" at the Shaker Theatre. Sales are open only to members of the Class of 1970 until November 20, after which the remaining tickets will be sold to students from all classes.

Tickets, at the reduced rate of $1.25 each, must be paid for when ordered, and will be delivered on November 15.

Buses to the theatre will leave Juniper and East 115 Street at 7 p.m., the night of the performance.

Sophomores may order tickets on a first come, first served basis from Lee Berger at Storrs House; Lance Turkish, Claud Foster; Mike Santoli, Sigma Chi house; Jon Poole, Cutler House; and Bill Chepla, Beta Theta Pi house.

article from the SATURDAY REVIEW, set the pace for the course on Latin America led by John Culver of the Case humanities department. Combining wit with seriousness, Culver discussed the "new social order" emerging in Latin America. He described a model of the "new middle class," lightly comparing it to the NOUVEAU RICHE in the U.S. Following discussion on the personal and ideological frustrations of this new class, Culver exclaimed, "Nationalism is their cry, and especially continental nationalism."

The group, led by Donald Simmons of the University Christian Movement, was described by one participating student as "an AD HOC bunch of people who have gathered to discuss the ideal university." Each student is writing his own idea of an experimental college. The group is trying to bring in people representing other experimental colleges in the U.S.

The seminar entitled, "Marxism in the Modern World," has begun to explore the possible obsolescence of Marxism. Both the theory and its relation to revolutions have been discussed.

"Prognosis of Social Reform," offered by Stewart Schoenfeld, a Reserve graduate student, has shown remarkable progress. As Mark Steele, one participating student remarked, "The course is just unbelievable, absolutely fascinating. We met from 7:45 to 12 P.M. More courses should be like this."

The group has begun to read "Dilemmas of Social Action, Poverty and Community Action" written by Peter Marris and Martin S. Rein. The authors have been hired to do research for the Ford Foundation and the President's Council on Juvenile Delinquency.

Using this book as a basis for analysis the participants have discussed ways of resolving social reform issues. Two theories were examined at Thursday night's meeting. Schoenfeld explained that "one critical factor is the larger society's attitudes towards the poor people involving stereotypes and prejudice." The second theory involved changing the environment of the poverty-stricken as a means of reform.

Richard Robbins of the Law School began the first experimental exploration of "the remnants of the real city" yesterday.

An excited group of sleepy-eyed students gathered at 7 A.M., for a light breakfast and two films by Mumford. Physical exploration of the city should begin next week. Some questions to be considered include, "Is a single high rise apartment a city? Is Chagrin Falls a City? Is a city a place? Can you see a city?"
